SOUTHERN TROOPS REVOLT; DR. SUN YAT-SEN REPORTED IN FLIGHT

SOUTH IRISH CONSTITUTION CREATES NEW NATION IN ERIN

Free State Co-Equal Member Of British Commonwealth

EQUAL SUFFRAGE

Election Laws Defined; Officials Must Be Loyal To King

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 15.—The representatives of the South Irish Unionists who participated in the London negotiations have written to Mr. Winston Churchill, saying that they fully recognise the concessions made, but are not satisfied that any Senate constituted, as has been proposed, by popular election, with powers so strictly limited, can afford genuine protection to minorities in Ireland.

London, June 15.—The draft of the South Irish Constitution has been published. The preamable gives the Anglo-Irish Treaty the force of law. Any provision of the Constitution or law conflicting with the Treaty will be void.

The Constitution states that the Irish Free State is a co-equal member of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

The National language will be Irish but English is equally recognised as official.

Men and women will have equal rights of citizenship including suffrage.

No law may discriminate between religions.

Both Chambers will be elected by proportional representation but the Senate will be chosen by citizens of thirty years of age or over from a nominated panel. Half the members of the First Senate, however, will be nominated by the Premier and the other half elected by the Chamber in accordance with the principle of proportional representation.

The Members of Parliament, including those of the Parliament to be elected tomorrow must take the oath of allegiance to the Constitution of the Free State and of faithfulness to the King and his heirs and successors by law in virtue of the common citizenship of Ireland and Great Britain and her membership of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

The Crown will be represented by a Governor-General whose power will be similar to that of the Governor-General of Canada.

The Free State will not be required to take part in any war without the assent of its parliament except in the event of actual invasion.

The Executive Council will consist of not more than twelve Ministers. The President of the Council will be nominated by the Chamber and the Vice-President and two other Ministers who are members of the Chamber will be nominated by the President and the others by a Committee impartially representing the Chamber.

London, June 15.—Following a joint conference of the British and Irish signatories of the Treaty at Downing Street this morning, Mr. Winston Churchill in the House of Commons this afternoon announced that the Government was of the opinion that the Irish Constitution conformed with the Treaty. The Constitution will be published in tomorrow's newspapers.

Meanwhile, Mr. Churchill will postpone the Irish statement pending the completion of the Irish elections on Tuesday after which he will be able to give a better account of the position.

Little, Australian Trade Envoy Here, Wins Vindication

Melbourne, June 15.—It is understood that the report of Senator Bakhap who recently made an official visit to China, exonerates Mr. E. S. Little, the Australian Trade Commissioner in China, from charges levelled against him by a departmental officer.

Washington Descendant Prosecutes Miners

Col. F. Washington Brown

ONE of the leading counsel for the State of West Virginia in the prosecution of William Blizzard and others, of the United Mine Workers, on the charge of treason in connection with strike riots, is Colonel Forest Washington Brown, of Charles Town, W. MEN OF CENTRAL SAY FAREWELL TO CAPTAIN DOWDING

Veteran Of Department Ends Period Of Fourteen Years Of Service Here

Honors were paid and farewell was given last night by men of the Central Division police station to Capt. Peter Dowding, veteran of the Settlement Police Department who in his fourteen years of service has won a host of friends. Captain Dowding is terminating a long record of honorable and efficient service in the department and is sailing today for England on the steamer Delta.

In the department he held the rank of Sergeant of Police, his title of Captain having been achieved in particularly valiant war service. He was among the first from Shanghai to respond and take up arms when Great Britain entered the war and after leaving Shanghai early in 1915 he joined the gallant 42nd Foot, the celebrated regiment of Scots, famed as The Black Watch.

In the fighting at Arras he was almost mortally wounded in the head and after his recovery when he was held to be incapacitated for further active service he joined a labor battalion serving through the war with it. In this service he rose to the rank of acting Colonel and was retired with the title of Captain. He returned to Shanghai early in 1919.

At the gathering that was held last night in the billiard room at Central Station Sub-Inspector C. Powell made a brief address sketching in outline Captain Dowding's long service in the department. The departing officer then was presented with a gold wrist watch, a pair of gold cuff links and a cigarette case.

Captain Dowding is returning to his home in Scotland.

Russ To Waive Duty On Parcels

(Reuter's Service)

Moscow, May 1.—Plans are announced for admitting into Russia, duty free, packages from abroad for individuals and which contain only food or clothing intended exclusively for personal use. These parcels must not exceed 21 pounds in weight.

By the Soviet customs regulations each person is entitled to receive from foreign countries by post under this ruling not more than two packages each month. The contents of the parcels will be subject to duty if the food and personal effects are sent in the same bundle.

General Lu Independent; Made Head Of Commission To "Rehabilitate Chekiang"

Hangchow Tuchun Resigns And Circularises Nation with Message Enumerating Own Merits And Opposing Tuchunate

Chekiang declared independence from the Peking Government yesterday, according to a telegram received here last night. It will abolish the tuchunate under a commission headed by General Lu Yung-hsiang, who resigned from the Office of the Tuchun on Thursday and will enact a provincial constitution under which self-government of the province will be exercised.

In view of the close association of the local defense commissioner, General Ho Feng-ling, with the Chekiang ex-Tuchun, it is expected that Shanghai will follow the footsteps of Chekiang at once.

Despite the refusal of General Lu to accept any office which might appear to be a substitute for the tuchunate, the Hangchow gentry, representatives of the Provincial Assembly and officials insisted that Lu should remain in the provincial capital to maintain the peace and order. Immediately a representative gathering of notables met following his resignation and created a Commission on Chekiang Rehabilitation and elected General Lu its executive head.

This General Lu accepted. A manifesto was then drafted and circulated among the provinces, announcing the aim and purpose of the change.

TEXT OF MESSAGE

A translation of the full text of General Lu's telegram follows:

"Since the conclusion of the European War and the signing of the peace treaty, the tendency of the world has been the speedy limitation of armament. Being aware of the world situation and realising our domestic difficulties, I did on May 23 1920 circularise the nation with a telegram, advocating the abolition of the tuchunate and the reduction of armament.

"Later I presented a concrete plan whereby my ideals could be carried out and offered it to the nation for consideration. To my delight, it had met with the approval of my sympathisers who agreed to accept the plan. However, circumstances prevented the immediate execution of the plan although my ardent desire for its realisation and consummation had never dwindled at all.

"In perusing the telegram circulated by General Li Yuan-hung, I was glad of the general desire for reformation and saw plainly our opportunity, as this was a political and not a legal issue. If this was made an issue on the basis of which we would either favor or oppose the resumption of his presidential duties we should indeed be accused of possessing ulterior motives. So I remain silent on the subsequent telegrams sent by General Li.

"My own humble opinion is that the abolition of the tuchunate and the reduction of armaments has been accepted by the consensus of public opinion as the only solution for the salvation of the country. No explanation is necessary. What pains me most is the ignorance of the question of legality in all our political affairs.

OPPOSED TO LAW

"Militarism has been precisely opposed to law and order. Since the establishment of the Republic, militarism has been dominating politics. The fate of the nation has been left in the hands of the militarists. The country has been ruled in accordance with the sentimentality of the militarists. Law could be destroyed at pleasure to suit the militarists. It could be restored when it would serve for their private purpose. And the chief culprit in the cause is the Tuchun.

"The old saying is well said that when a poisonous snake bites his hand, the hero has no alternative but to amputate his arm. Since I had been a Tuchun, I should be the first to be eliminated. This was my original idea and I make this offer with all sincereity.

"Blessed by an education, I am aware of the principles of human life. While in command of large military units in border provinces, I have always looked after the interest of the people, though I have not accomplished any distinguished service to the nation.

"Chekiang and Shangahi have been considered prosperous regions of the country. I have done the utmost to prevent any warfare from taking place here. Rather tolerate outside humiliation than to increase my forces. This was my policy and evidences of it may be seen in the records of the provinces.

"The most objectionable feature of the tuchunate is the keeping of abundant troops. The aggressive soldiers prey upon the peaceful populace while the tranquil ones lose their own useful energy through idleness. In the training of forces, I had always kept in my mind that idleness breeds passion. So I had turned soldiers into laborers. Road construction has attained some result in Chekiang and Shanghai. The troops having learned a trade are not likely to

'Flivver Flour,' Is Henry Ford's Latest

(Reuter's Service)

New York, May 19.—The New York Times states that Henry Ford has, according to Blas A. Lackovic, his personal chef and private bodyguard, paused in his usual labors to invent and produce a new kind of flour that will undersell anything now on the market and will be, in addition, much more healthful and invigorating than any flour heretofore known. According to the chef, Mr. Ford has built a small flour mill in Detroit, and is there experimenting with the new food. It has not yet been placed on the market, he says, but is used exclusively on Mr. Ford's own table.

U. S. S. Long Is Long On Everything Good

By Irene Corbally

"Long by name and jolly by nature" might aptly be written on a pennant to wave over the "squeegeed" decks (see later paragraphs for explanation of unusual term) of the U. S. S. "Long" lying in the harbor here.

To begin with, the ship has a long travel record since it was commissioned in Philadelphia in 1919. Its shakedown cruise took it south to Key West, after which it sailed over to Gibraltar. Through the Mediterranean, making all ports, stopping off to play baseball in Spalato and to succor a Russian transport loaded with refugees in the Black Sea, thence to Manila was the next lap in the itinerary.

It came north from the Philippines to Shanghai last June, then went to Chefoo, Chinwangtao and other China ports, returning to Olongapo for a short time. From the Islands back to China, and from China to the Islands, and now here again, is included in the Oriental record of the "Long," which, it is believed, will return to the States on September 1.

Then there is the crew, long on experiences and laughter. There is, especially, a jolly fellow whose main official concern is torpedoes. His name is MacDougall and although he has been in the navy over 19 years he is dreaming of retiring to the land. He is going back to the land with a vengeance, for he is emphatic in his joyful determination that he is going to sell real estate in Washington, D. C. His experiences, long and interesting, date from the days when the present "Buffalo," the tender or mother ship of the squadron, was what he calls a square-rigged ship. He has been on every kind of naval houseboat owned by Uncle Sam, cruiser, battleship, gunboat, submarine, destroyer.

A FAST LINE

The "Long's" combination baseball captain and ship's photographer has the longest and fastest line of conversation that was ever unrolled for the delectation of a hard-working newspaper girl. I could ask no better way of passing a summer afternoon than to listen to young Hiller give the latest additions to the Gobs' Dictionary of Slang, which he ought to compile.

"Every ship speaks a different language," said Hiller. "Honest, sometimes you can't understand what a fellow from another ship is talking about. We've got a lot of good expressions here though."

"Squeegeed," referred to previously, is what happens when a thing has been cleaned thoroughly, so far as I could make out from the technical explanation of the origin of the word which young Hiller ploughed through for me.

"Curtains," is when anything is finished; a "dunningan" is a gob who pulls a "bonehead stunt."

But listen to a few minutes of young Hiller himself, to get the full benefit of this.

"Well, hold everything now and listen! Just say that we guys on the 'Long' have spent more time in rickshas than the 'Roper' has spent in days in China." The "Roper" has been to Shanghai previously, by way of explanation, and has spent much time here.

AWAY WE GO!

COULING FUNERAL SEES PASSING OF NOTED SINOLOGUE

Throng Of Sorrowing Friends Attends Final Rites Held At Bubbling Well

Sorrowing friends attended the final rites that were held yesterday at Bubbling Well Cemetery for the Rev. Samuel Couling who held rank as one of the leading sinologues of China and who ended nearly forty years of constructive effort in China when he died Thursday afternoon at his residence at No. 5 Shantung Road. Mr. Couling was 62 years old and his death was caused by an ailment from which he has been a sufferer for a number of months.

Mr. Couling was an eminent figure in the world of letters but perhaps what is regarded as his greatest achievement, a monument that will remain in his memory, is his Encyclopedia Sinica, the only volume of its kind, and one indespensible to every student of China and Chinese affairs. He not only edited this work, but much of it was from his own pen and the fact that its publication was in his hands was sufficient reason to attract as contributors to the work some of the most scholarly men of the day. In recognition of the great work that Mr. Couling did

GEN. CHEN'S TROOPS IN SURPRISE ATTACK; SUN GOES TO HUANGPU

Revolt Breaks Out Suddenly At 3 O'clock In The Morning; Sun's Troops Surrounded By Rivals, Who Now Control Southern Government

CHEN ISSUES PROCLAMATION TO MEN

With Parliament Restored, And Old Hsu Out Of Office, Aims Of Constitutionalists Are Satisfied Military Leader Tells His Men

(Eastern News Agency)

Canton, June 16.—This morning at 3 o'clock the troops belonging to General Chen Chiung-ming made a sudden attack upon Dr. Sun Yat-sen's forces with the result that the latter all have fallen in the hands of General Chen's troops. Dr. Sun has fled to Huangpu. The city of Canton is quiet as yet.

A portion of the troops under the command of General Wei Pang-ping, as well as all the troops under Dr. Sun Yat-sen, have been disarmed. In a proclamation to the troops, General Chen Chiung-ming stated that "inasmuch as the Old Parliament has been restored and President Hsu Shih-chang has gone out of office, the object of constitutionalism has been accomplished and it is therefore natural that Dr. Sun should give up his scheme of anti-Northern campaign and resign his office immediately."

Peking, June 16.—The government has obtained a grant of $500,000 from the customs surplus for defraying the expenses of reassembling Parliament. This is considered a great diplomatic victory on the part of Dr. W. W. Yen, as showing the practical friendliness of the powers that control the customs. There is confidence that Parliament will reassemble within three months.

Hongkong, June 16.—An unconfirmed Chinese report states that General Chen Chiung-ming's troops fought Dr. Sun Yat-sen's forces this morning and that General Chen captured several forts. Dr. Sun is reported to have left Canton. His destination is unkown.

Hongkong, June 16.—Replying to a telegraphic inquiry from the Hongkong Telegraph, Dr. Wu Ting-fang cabled: "Peking reports are, as usual, unreliable. No Premiership has been offered to me."

Peking, June 16.—After a lull of 36 hours, the Chihli forces heavily bombarded the Fengtien troops with guns yesterday afternoon from the left flank, where the former are now in a strong position.

The Chihli forces outnumber the Fengtien men and both Chinese and foreign reports indicate an early defeat of the latter unless they retire.

Peking, June 16.—Mandates issued yesterday evening made the following appointments:

Mr. Lu Cheng-hsiang, Minister to Switzerland; Mr. Wang Tah-hsieh, Chief of the Administrative Court; Mr. Jao Han-hsiang, Director of the Emigration and Labor Bureau (vice Mr. Kuo Tze-yun, resigned); Mr. Han Kuo-chun, Civil Governor of Kiangsu: Mr. Wang Hu, Civil Governor of Shantung; Mr. Lo Wen-kan, Chief Justice of the Peking Supreme Court; Mr. Hsieh Yuan-han, Civil Governor of Kiangsi.

Another mandate dismissed General Chen Kuang-yuan, Tuchun of Kiangsi.

In the course of a further long mandate, President Li Yuan-hung orders the cessation of hostilities and armistices between the factions throughout the country so that negotiations for reunification can be carried out.

Diplomatic Peking In Quandary As To Li Yuan-hung's Status

BY JOSEF W. HALL
Staff Correspondent the China Press

Peking, June 13.—President Li Yuan-hung has caused considerable perplexity in diplomatic circles by his announcement that he has come to Peking merely to "Temporarily fulfill the duties and powers of President." (Dzan-shih hsing Tsung-tung de Tsai Chuan). Recognition of a Chief Executive by foreign plenipotentiaries must be de jure

NEW WORLD SOLD; GOES AT AUCTION ON BID OF $150,000

Chinese Amusement Resort On Nanking Road In New Phase Of Troubled Career

The New World, Shanghai's biggest Chinese amusement resort, which for more than a year has been a bone of contention of a half dozen diverse factions involving British, Chinese, American and Italian interests, was sold at public auction yesterday despite a number of obstacles raised and warnings given by interested parties opposing the sale. The auction was conducted in Messrs. Funder's Auction rooms and an indication is given of how tangled and involved have become the affairs of the big Nanking Road resort, at one time said to be yielding profits of Tls. 2,000 daily, by the fact that the auction sale price was $150,000. The exact identity of the purchaser was not announced, but it was said that the sale had been made to one of the interested factions, holding mortgages.

The Hsin Nieh New World enterprise, so far as published records go, first ran into shoal water something over a year ago by reason of a controversy in the directorate that led to legal complications. Further trouble grew out of a contract and loans made with the Tobacco Products Corporation of New York which brought about more and more litigation in the American Court for China and in the Mixed Court.

PLACE IS CLOSED

By reason of these troubles under injunction proceedings the New World was closed up several times, on one occasion for a long period of weeks. In the course of the various legal conflicts it was recited in court at one of the numerous hearings involving the amusement resort that loans approximating $400,000 had been advanced to the amusement company by Messrs. Burkhardt, Amidani & Co., on a mortgage which these interests sought to foreclose in the Mixed Court last January. At that time sale of the property was deferred by court order.

In recent weeks, though it had been announced that the New World property would be sold at auction in a single block, no effort was made by those interests opposing sale of the property to prevent it by court order. Advertised announcement was made, however, yesterday warning would-be purchasers that any sale at this time would be regarded as invalid. One of these announcements published on behalf of Messrs. Atkinson & Dallas Ltd., agents of the landlords of the premises of the New or de facto, and President Li, by the unusual explanation which he gives of his assumption of presidential powers makes it difficult for the ministers of the powers to assume that he is president in either capacity.

Claims to de jure position, in addition to being contradictory to President Li's policy in coming to Peking, would give rise to innumerable legal questions, should anyone see fit to raise them. It would be much easier to establish a de-facto position for the president for the time being. Such might be assumed by him and recognised by the powers on the basis of the telegrams which have come from the provinces petitioning him to assume the presidency. At the same time there are substantial portions of China which either do not yet recognise him as Chief Executive or are openly defiant of his pretensions.

As long as Chang Tso-lin is fighting Wu Pei-fu (who must, from the diplomatic standpoint be regarded as Li's military commander), Manchuria must be regarded as in rebellion to President Li's authority, regardless of his telegraphic proffers of allegiance. Lu Yung-hsiang in Chekiang and the Shanghai district of Kiangsi which he controls remains obdurate and Canton must still be regarded as opposing Li's assumption. Nevertheless, it would clear things up diplomatically if Li Yuan-hung would announce himself president de facto in accordance with the expressed wishes of a majority of the people and issue an order to Wu Pei-fu to bring obdurate elements into line.

However, all sides will admit that Li would be foolish to prejudice internal harmony and the possibilities of success of his program just to make things easier for foreign diplomats who necessarily must conduct their relations according to the precedent of the ages. President Li has shown his desire to be hospitable by opening two guest books in his official residence—they are the books used during his previous presidency, a few blank leaves being left to denote the interim for the signatures of callers: one book for the "Corps Diplomatique" and the other for "Foreign Advisers and Friends." To date, the page of the "Corps Diplomatique" book retains its pristine whiteness. Of course, foreign diplomatic officials do not call on a president until they are invited, or rather "summoned." The new President is planning a reception to take place within a few days. It remains to be seen whether the diplomatic set in Peking will adhere to correct attitude or whether curiosity and common-sense (strangely intermixed) will overcome diplomatic convention.

'Kinhan' Rail Head Wants To Move

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, June 13.—The new Managing Director of the Peking-Hankow Railway, Mr. C. H. Chao, has submitted a memorial to the Ministry of Communications suggesting the removal of the main administraion of that railway from Chienmen in Peking to Chengchow on the Kinhan line south of the Yellow River. Mr. Chao supports his suggestion with the argument that Chengchow is the meeting point of the Peking-Hankow and Pienlo Railways, which are now lines of the greatest importance in China, and that Chengchow is the ideal location for administration and other purposes.

The Kinhan administration at Chienmen in Peking was for a while removed to Paotingfu when General Wu Pei-fu was compelled by military expediency and urgent need for money to lay hold of its daily receipts and incomes. If the removal of Kinhan main office to Chengchow is put into effect, the complete control of Kinhan and Pienlo lines will fall into the hands of Chihli militarists.

"Societies" Oppose Loans To Wu Pei-fu

"The Association of All Societies in the Republic of China," at a meeting held in the Hupeh Reconstruction Society's headquarters on Rue Admiral Bayle, French Concession, passed a resolution to send a telegram to the foreign Minister at Peking requesting that Wu Pei-fu be given no financial aid by the Powers.

The Association also passed a resolution deciding to hold no more meetings in the Settlement because of the objections of the Municipal police.

World under a certain lease, declared that under the terms of this lease no assignment of the property may legally be made without assent of Messrs. Atkinson & Dallas Ltd.

The other published announcement, issued on behalf of Chen Ven Kee of the Tabaqueria Filipina, sets forth that "the lease held by the Hsin Nieh New World Company upon the northern side of the premises is void and invalid, the only valid lease existing on said premises being a lease dated May 8, 1917 executed by and between Chen Ven Kee of the Tabaqueria Filipina and the landlord."

This notice adds that an action is pending in the Mixed Court between Chen Ven Kee and others against the landlords for damages for breach of the lease mentioned and the warning was given that any sale or assignment of the property will not be recognised or considered valid by Chen Ven Kee.

BUYERS WARNED

Before the sale opened yesterday Mr. G. H. Wright of Messrs. Hanson, McNeill, Jones and Wright made a statement concerning certain leases which he said were held by trustees of the Shanghai Hotels Co. Ltd., Mr. Duncan McNeill and Mr. Gordon Mackie, without whose sanction the leases might not be terminated through sale of the property or otherwise.

Mr. Parlani, who acted as auctioneer of the property said he could not enter into legal phases of the question of the sale which would proceed unless halted by order of court. Mr. Wright then said he desired to warn any probable purchasers that they might be turned out of possession of the property at the instance of the Shanghai Hotels Company. He suggested a postponement of the auction, but this was not assented to.

Only the single bid of $150,000 was made when Mr. Parlani opened the auction and the property was knocked down at this price. When Mr. Parlani was asked to disclose the identity of the purchaser he said due public announcement of the purchaser's identity would be made.

U. S. S. Long Is Long On Everything Good

the intrepid young conversationalist and slangist as he went below to put away his equipment. "We're the best customers the ricsha men have. When we want to call a guy names now we say he is a 'ricsha man' which just about proves that we know all about these panting human taxis, and their dumbbell tricks.

"They know our habits and our run, too," he added. "We just get in now and say 'chop chop' and we go."

The "Long" men have picked up the cookie chant and when there is carrying work to be done aboard ship they translate the sing-song monotone of the Chinese laborer into something that sounds the same so far as the music (?) goes, but reaches the ear thus, from one fellow, "I'm tired," and is answered with "Me, too," from the other. There are variations to this, of course, the one I heard yesterday, day before payday, being "I'm broke, me too."

Commander C. S. McWhorter, of the "Long," who is probably returning to the States in another month, has only praise for his crew. "It's a good ship because it has good men," he said. Nothing more. But that was enough. Aside, it is of interest to note that the "Long" is one of the two ships in the Navy with 8 four-inch guns.

One of the things the ship did on its Mediterranean cruise toward the Orient, was to pick up the distress signals of a large Russian transport, loaded with refugees from Sevastapol, on December 16, 1920. The transport was without coal, food or lights and the 5,000 stricken Russians aboard were virtually in a panic when the "Long" hove upon the scene, near Constanza, Roumania, and towed the ship for a day before turning it over to a Russian tug, Constantinople bound.

SOME WASHERWOMEN

The transport was loaded with a $5,000,000 American cargo, which had been in transit three years. The prize money that would ordinarily accrue to a ship picking up the transport as salvage is enough to make anyone's mouth water, but the American navy's traditions and regulations strictly forbid salvage.

Hiller's conversational rapidity is something that one needs a twenty-horse power listening apparatus to keep up with. He skips from one high point of humor to another with the agility of a chamois, so that the laughs from one joke run right over into the next with a continuous gurgle.

On top of his vivid account of the rescue of the Russian transport he switched over to Canton and the efficiency of the Chinese washerwomen there. The best laundrymen in the world come from Canton and it's no wonder, for, according to Hiller they get the best training in the world in South China.

"Give your wash to them over the side today and you get it back tomorrow," he said.

Wish the Navy could induce some of the Cantonese clothes-wringers to come to Shanghai.

Control Of All German Funds Is Now Question

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 15.—A Reparation Commission note to Germany says that the questions of control of German expenditure and revenue and export of German capital will be investigated by a guarantee committee acting in conjunction with the German Government.

The Commission awaits detailed proposals for decreasing the deficit in German railway and postal estimates.

White House Hit By Economy Wave

(China Press Service)

Washington, June 15.—Believing that economy principles emphasised by the Administration should begin at home, President Harding revealed he had saved $128,552 in White House expenses in the last ten months. Purely executive expenditures totaled $182,132 from July 1 to April 30. In the same period last year expenditures were $310,684. Part of the saving is due to less elaborate entertainment and to reductions in cost of operating the executive offices.

"I have all the life insurance I want."

"IT isn't a question, is it, of how much insurance you want? Isn't it how much your family will need? Have you sufficient insurance and other investments to return to your family, at a safe rate of interest, approximately your present income? The man who thinks he is protecting his family when he takes out one thousand dollars of insurance is only protecting the doctor and the undertaker."

"Have you as large an estate as you want? Taking more insurance simply means creating a larger estate."

You will find Aerated Waters bottled in Syphons very economical. Frequently you want just one glass, but have to open a bottle for it. The rest is liable to become stale, or to lose its effervescence. With Syphons it is different. You just press the lever and draw off what you require. The remainder in the hermetically closed bottle remains fresh and effervescent to the last drop. No looking for openers. We have sufficient stock of Syphons to comply with orders to any extent.

Sodawater, "Crystalline" the Champion Table Water, Tonic Water, Lithia, Seltzer, Brom-Seltzer (invaluable in headache). Apollinaris, prepared fresh daily from the salts, etc., may all be had in Syphons.

CONFERENCE ON RUSSIAN ISSUES OPENS AT HAGUE

Delegates Welcomed By Envoy Of Holland's Queen

(Reuter's Service)

The Hague, June 15.—The Conference on the Russian question opened today at the Palace of Peace. The Dutch Foreign Minister, who subsequently was elected Chairman on the proposal of the British delegates, welcomed the delegates on behalf of the Queen. The British, French and Italian representatives expressed their thanks for the welcome extended to them.

The sitting only lasted an hour.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, June 15.—Marshal Petain has left for London. M. Poincare will leave for London tomorrow.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, June 15.—The French delegates to The Hague Conference have not yet departed. A conversation between M. Poincare and the Belgian Foreign Minister, M. Jaspar, yesterday resulted, according to the newspapers, in Belgium intimating her intention of adhering to her attitude on Russian private property which caused the very serious crisis at Genoa.

The Hague, June 15.—The Dominions and British delegates yesterday evening discussed the Empire's policy at the Conference. The Dominions delegates emphasised that they must refer to their Governments the question of their respresentation on the final commission which the Russians will attend.

Sir Francis Bell declared that New Zealand will not be represented directly. It is noteworthy that not a single representative from South Africa is at the Conference.

All the delegates have not yet arrived. France will be represented in the first few days by her Minister at The Hague. The Russian Delegation numbers 16 and is headed by MM. Krassin, Litvinoff and Rakowsky.

CLUBWOMEN AND NAVY 'Y' HOSTS TO U. S. SAILORS

Dancing Party At Town Hall Featured By Program By Young Americans

Men of the American Asiatic fleet stationed here over July Fourth were guests last night of the members of the American Woman's Club and of the Navy Y. M. C. A. at one of the biggest and perhaps the most enjoyable dancing party staged in Shanghai in years. All of the extensive facilities of the Town Hall where the party was held were taxed to the limit and through most of the evening every available floot of space on the big dancing floor was brought into use.

Musicians chosen from among the Navy men on the eighteen destroyers here as an orchestra supplied music part of the time and the band of the Flagship Huron under the able direction of Bandmaster Polentino also played. Included among the items of the long program that was given were several 'Tag' dances which proved highly popular as was also a 'Paul Jones dance,' featured by indiscriminate exchange of partners.

In intervals between dance numbers a particularly pleasing program was given by a number of young Americans of Shanghai. Little Miss Peggy Crane and her brother Clay Crane scored an exceptional success in their American Navy song and dance and also in the scarecrow dance they gave. Another striking feature of the program was the toe dance that was given by little Miss Florrie Field and the skirt dancing of the little Misses Ada Trueman and Dorothy and Eileen Harris brought forth rousing bursts of applause.

The grand march around the gaily decorated auditorium with which the affair was opened was led by Mesdames Raven, Nichols, Sawyer and Lyman of the American Woman's Club and men of the Fleet.

Africa And East Exhibit Successful

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 15.—The "Africa and the East" Exhibition at the Royal Agricultural Hall, organised by the Church Missionary Society, concluded today. It has been a most complete success and there were a quarter of a million visitors. The Chinese blind band, which was the greatest attraction, is now commencing a year's tour of the provinces.

London, June 15.—The Colonial Secretary has appointed Sir Frank Swettenham Chairman of the Committee to organise the Far Eastern group of Colonies in connection with a British Empire Exhibition.

Woman Accused In $500,000 Bond Theft From Big Bank

MRS. John Vardeman, known on the stage as Fern Hollis, said to have sung in the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, has been arrested, with her husband, at Savannah, Ga., in connection with the theft of $500,000 in negotiable Liberty Bonds from the big Chase National Bank of New York. Bonds worth $440,000 were found in Vardeman's safe deposit vault in Jacksonville, Fla. Arthur F. Chase, a former cow puncher but later guard at the Chase National Bank, confessed he mailed a package of blank paper and stole the bonds, which were being sent to a Boston bank.

Minister Gives Report Of Meeting Of Cabinet

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, June 16.—Mr. Kao Eng-hung, the Minister of Communications, interviewed by Reuter's correspondent this morning, said that a precedent had been established yesterday when President Li Yuan-hung attended a Cabinet meeting lasting three hours and a half. The meeting transacted a great volume of business, which, ordinarily, the Minister said, would have entailed a long delay.

The business included the issue of 30 mandates, one dismissing General Chen Kuang-yuan and appointing as Civil Governor of Kiangsi Mr. Hsieh Yuan-han, General Li Lieh-chun's Chief of Staff and confidential friend. No further Tuchun of Kiangsi would be appointed, Mr. Kao said, thus the Administration yesterday abolished one Tuchunate, while the new conditions in Kiangsi should leave General Li Lieh-chun no further ground for dissatisfaction.

CHANG WRITES

Another important matter dealt with by the Cabinet, Mr. Kao went on, was a letter from General Chang Tso-lin, in which the latter requested the President to issue a mandate forbidding further hostilities in any part of the country, promising that if this were done he would immediately order the Fengtien troops to retire in obedience to the mandate. General Chang sent this letter to Peking by his confidential agent, General Shen Hung-lieh, whom he instructed to remain and if the President complied to telegraph the contents of the mandate to him (General Chang) immediately, upon which he would order the Fengtien troops to retire. This letter, Mr. Kao said, was signed by General Chang without rank or title and contained nothing indicating independence.

Asked whether he thought General Chang Tso-lin could be trusted in view of his recent trick against General Wu Pei-fu, Mr. Kao said that he was confident that there would be no treachery. The tone of the letter was so sincere that it carried conviction. General Chang had rightly adopted the attitude of a citizen of the Republic, and was ready to cooperate with the Government towards reunification and he, Mr. Kao, was confident that General Chang would give no further trouble, either concerning the Peking-Mukden or other railways or otherwise.

RAIL PROJECT

The Chiaotungpu, the Minister continued, would shortly take up the question of completing the Hu Kuang Railway and would probably approach in that connection the Old Consortium for a loan of $40,000,000, which, he estimated, the construction would cost. The construction of the Chefoo-Weihsien Railway would also be carried on. The roadbed which at present was being used as a motor road had been designed for the railway and grading cuttings and bridges would be carried out. The railway plan, it was estimated, would cost, for completion, $20,000,000.

The Chiaotungpu had been cutting down unnecessary expenditure on all sides and as wireless was of little value to the Department it was intended to offer it to the Minister of the Navy. Wireless was always useful to the Army and Navy and it would also be to his Department if there was any prospect of using it commercially, without loss. Up to the present, the Minister concluded, this had seemed impossible and he did not intend to maintain a losing concern.

Six Sentenced For Kalee Hotel Jewel Robbery

Imprisonment of from five years to three months was the sentence passed on six Russians yesterday for their part in the jewel robbery in the Kalee Hotel on October 13 last when M. Navon, a French citizen, lost diamonds valued at $2,500. Expulsion orders were issued for another.

The man sentenced to 5 years is Malach Ratevitch, whose arrest is expected daily in Harbin, where he has been traced.

Vladimir Artiouk was sentenced to two years in jail and expulsion and Yakolevitch Soudakoff, in whose possession some jewels were found, was sentenced to three years' imprisonment and expulsion.

Others sentenced were Constantin E. Sassovine, to one year and expulsion, Aron Zelek Mikoin, a year and a half, and Basile Lapine, three months. Charges against two suspects were dismissed

Inspector Traissac of the French police gathered all the evidence in the case and made the arrests.

CORRUPT OFFICIALDOM

"Corruption in officialdom has been the worst enemy to the progress of the nation since its reorganisation ten years ago. Titles and offices could be given away as presents to friends and relatives, while big offices have been considered hereditary. If one member of a family achieves success in official life, the rest must. My respect for a democracy forbids me to exercise these privileges and I am pleased to say my resignation would affect no one.

"Morality and sense of justice are conspicuously absent in present-day political dealings. Relatives become enemies overnight. Self-protection is assured only by brute force. Merits and demerits are judged by victory or defeat. Those who clique with us shall survive, while those who oppose us must die. I was not in the Tuchun's office for more than seven months before I advocated its abolition. Finding that it was impossible to abolish it at once, I caused to be established different sections for self-government in order gradually to restore the sovereign power to the people. All administrative work was conducted in public in order that good government may exist.

"It will be seen that I am not far behind in my aspirations for the salvation of the nation. So on June 15, 1922 in the presence of authorised representatives of all legally constituted bodies in the province, I announced the abolition of the tuchunate. It was my intention to resign also my concurrent office of Commander of the Tenth Division. However, there is no legal government to which my work could be handed over. Moreover, my sudden departure from office might have precipitated a disturbance of peace in the province, therefore I was reluctantly compelled to retain this commission so as to maintain the order of the district, in company with the civil governor, the defense commissioner and the division commanders. I have undertaken the responsibility of protecting the life and property within my jurisdiction.

"I shall completely give up my office as soon as legal government shall have been constituted. As to the question of disarmament, I shall wait for the promulgation by a legally constituted government of a specific plan based on justice and equality. The danger of any plan that is formulated by one or two persons with ulterior motives is of course conspicuous and I warn the public against falling into the intrigue."

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.

Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense, and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.

Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.

The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:

Procure about 1 oz. powdered pheminol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefuly and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove, and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talcum powder. (Advt.)

A little and good

Here you see both sides of one

THERE is a distinguishing feature in the business of the house of HAIG & HAIG. Most Distillers have various brands of varying qualities. HAIG & HAIG have one brand only, and they claim (and the public acclaim) that it is the finest that goes from Scotland.

It is a regrettable fact that all retailers have not the same high standard of commercial honesty, and it is known that cheaper brands are sometimes passed on to the public under the label of houses of high repute.

When you see a genuine bottle of HAIG & HAIG Five Stars Scots Whisky it will be the same fine quality in London, in Lucknow, or in Labrador; in the Langham Hotel, in the G.O.H. at Colombo, and in the best Clubs in Cape Town.

Haig & Haig Five Stars Scots Whisky

A second quality Haig & Haig could not be filled into a Haig & Haig bottle because there isn't a second quality.

Haig & Haig is also known easily by the fact that you pay a little extra for it.

Say HAIG & HAIG or you may get a cheaper brand substituted.

On the principle that "a little and good" is better for you, you can be gently stimulated by the use of Haig & Haig at no increased cost

COLLEGE HOLDS COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM TODAY

Rev. Luther Freeman To Be Chief Speaker At Graduation Exercises

Commencement exercises of Shanghai College will be held in Yates Hall Chapel today, with the Class Day program taking place at 9 a.m. and the College processional and graduation ceremonies at 2:30 p.m. The principal address will be delivered by the Rev. Luther Freeman. Music will be furnished by the College Chorus and Glee Club. There will follow the awarding of prizes and scholarships and the presentation of diplomas to the graduates of the academy and the conferring of degrees.

Last Tuesday evening, the American members of the faculty of the college and their wives were hosts to the Chinese professors and teachers at a dinner in the college gymnasium. Covers were laid for fifty-six. President White acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers of the evening.

Mr. Su Beh-tang, president of the Chinese Teachers' Club, voiced the need for residences for Chinese teachers. The Rev. Doctor E. M. Poteat spoke of the relation between Chinese and Americans, and the difficult problems connected therewith. He said:

"The work of Shanghai College is in this respect an important and critical experiment, in that it calls for the mutual co-operation and forbearance of two distinct races. If it fails, it will be a gigantic failure; if it is a success, it will be of untold benefit to the land of China."

Doctor Poteat spoke of the wrong and danger of a spirit of condescension on either side. He complimented the Chinese on their ancient culture and civilisation.

"I shouldn't be surprised if the Chinese should shake baby rattles in our faces and talk baby talk to us, who have so recently sprung out of barbarism!"

Chile To Collect From Germans For Upkeep Of Prisoners

(Reuter's Service)

Santiago, April 21.—Chile will receive approximately 1,500,000 pesos gold from the German Government in payment of expenses incurred in connection with the internment of German sailors in this country during the war, according to an announcement by Dr. von Erckert, German Minister here. The sailors were members of the crews of the German cruisers Dresden and Seeadler.

Kiangse Road Fire Is Swiftly Checked

Fire, believed to have been caused from a lighted cigarette stub carelessly thrown into a quantity of matting on a stairway of the premises at No. 7 Kiangse Road, occasioned some little excitement about half past 9 o'clock last night and gave some promise of spreading through the building until it was checked by firemen from Central Division.

The blaze developed on a landing near offices occupied by Pasedag and Company and destroyed only a quantity of matting and bamboo shades that had been stored on the second floor landing. A second fire, discovered about 11 o'clock in a grocery at 40 and 41 Shanse Road, was caused from a spark that fell into a quantity of kapok on a drying platform. This blaze was quickly extinguished by firemen from Central Division with little or no loss.

Japanese Cloth Prices Are Firm

(Nippon Dempo Service)

Osaka, June 15.—In accordance with a stiffening tendency showed by cotton yarn, wholesalers demands for goods for mills are briskly progressing. Yesterday, about 20,000 bales have been contracted. This morning, owing to the reluctant attitude of mills, bargains were somewhat hampered, but contracts for June goods seem to have been made for more than half of the products. If American cotton continues to rise the attitude of mills, it is feared, will stiffen further.

The Cotton Spinners Association publishes that there were on the 10th inst. 64,127 bales of cotton yarn stocks in Osaka-Kobe districts. Compared with figures recorded on the last day of May, 2,964 bales was the increase, particular brands being: T. Cloth, 549 bales; Sheeting, 387; Shirting, 439; White Cloth, 1,172; Flannelette, 490; others 61,540.

Yarn stocks on the tenth, according to figures by the same Association, were 13,140 bales (a bale containing 40 balls), which was a decrease of 1,255 bales against last month.

in producing the Encyclopedia Sinica he was awarded a few years ago the Stanilaus Julian Prize of Francs 1,600.

Among his many other activities Mr. Couling was Secretary of the Shanghai branch of the Royal Asiatic Society and Editor of its journal. For some time he was a member of the faculty of Medhurst College.

CLERGYMAN'S SON

The Rev. Mr. Couling was the son of a British clergyman. He was born at Chippendale, near London and in his younger years served as a minister at Totnes in Devonshire. It was in 1884 that he came to China for the English Baptist Mission and was first stationed at Tsingchowfu, in Shantung. Shortly after his arrival at this station he was offered the post of Principal of Shansi University, but he declined this and some time later removed to Shanghai.

Through several years Mr. Couling engaged privately in work of tutoring, at the same time making an intensive study of all things pertaining to the Chinese. In this period he wrote many articles for various publications which brought him into notice for his scholarly attainments and also no engaged in editorial work, reviewing the China Review, among other things.

When Mr. George Lanning's work as historian of the International Settlement was halted by death, on request of the Municipal Council Mr. Couling took up the task and when he died he had completed the first volume of the work.

HURON BEATS SHANGHAI BY 9 TO 4 SCORE

Game Gets Away From Young Twirler; Wynn Holds Them Down

DOUBLEHEADER ON TODAY

Huron Plays Buffalo At 2:15; Shanghai Plays Off Tie With 37th At 4

Schedule Of Games

Today

U.S.S. Buffalo vs U.S.S. Huron
Shanghai vs 37th Division
(First game at 2:15 o'clock).

Tomorrow

Huron vs 37th Division
Shanghai vs 38th Division
(First game at 2:15 o'clock).

Read Hager, the 16-year old south-paw American school-boy, broke into big league baseball yesterday afternoon when he started for Shanghai against the Flagship Huron nine. He might have come out of the seven-inning game with an even break but for some bad fielding behind him in the first inning. As it was he held up nicely on his own and finally gave way to Wynn in the fifth, who carried the game through for a 9-4 defeat for the local nine. Hager is a nice little pitcher, and with a little seasoning and a little better support will show some games won.

The Huron nine, while it won yesterday does not stack up to the press agent dope that has been handed out about it. It has been said that the flagship this year is better by far than the team which played here last season. They did not show so much yesterday. Had Shanghai started their stronger pitchers and played the game the result would have been far different in favor of the navy boys, however it must be said that they have been out of the game for some time, and have not yet this season got down to proper going.

The Huron scored five runs in the first inning on bad playing on the locals' part. The inning should have seen the visitors retired one, two, three. Two outfield flies went for hits on loafing, and Holliday booted the next one. A sacrifice and three hits, one for three sacks contributed to the five tallies. In the fourth the sailors bunched four hits for three earned runs. A pair of triples in the seventh added one more.

Shanghai got its first run in the third when Holliday went safe on Lamke's muff of Scymanski's throw. A passed ball put him on third and Hills' single through second sent him home. Thatch scored the second in the fifth on a hit through second, another wild pitch, and Holliday's sacrifice. Bills followed with a walk, and came home on two singles by Wood and Hopkins. Hopkins completed Shanghai's scoring in the seventh with a homer to center field.

Wynn was working big league fashion. He fanned one man in the fifth and three each in the sixth and seventh. He allowed but two hits for the three innings, but these dropped so luckily as to be charged up as triples. Hager gave nine hits in four innings.

This afternoon a doubleheader will be staged at the ball park. The Huron plays the Buffalo in the first game commencing at 2:15 o'clock while Shanghai plays off the third game of the tied series with the 37th Division in the second commencing at 4.

Tomorrow another doubleheader will be played. The Huron and the 37th will play the first commencing at 2:15, and Shanghai will play the third of the tied series with the 38th commencing at 4.

Manager Gallop expects today to announce a three weeks schedule of baseball to be played on league percentages for a special cup. The Huron, the Buffalo, the 37th, the 38th, Shanghai and perhaps one other team will compete.

Pietro Bordino

PIETRO Bordino, the famous autoracer, from Torino, Italy, won the fifty-mile sprint at the Cotati Speedway near Santa Rosa, Cal., doing 114.2 miles an hour. Several laps were timed at 116 miles, but a stiff wind retarded his speed. Bordino was holding his own in the 100-mile race when his car caught fire. It was saved from destruction.

JIU JITSU AND WESTERN ARTS CLASH TONIGHT

Boxers And Wrestlers To Try Their Skill Against Japanese Athletes

PROSPECTS APPEAR EVEN

Japanese Though Of High Class Will Have To Extend Themselves

Judo, or jiu jitsu, the ancient mode of self defense of Japan, and boxing, the "manly art" of America and of England, and wrestling, the most ancient of European sports will be pitted each against the other tonight at the Town Hall in a special tournament, in which some of the cleverest exponents of the Nipponese art will compete against selected European and American talent of Shanghai. The bouts should be worth watching.

It will not be the first time that jiu jitsu has tried its strength and science against boxing and wrestling. It will not even be the first time that the test has been made in Shanghai. Many boxers and wrestlers who have used American and European tactics have met jiu jitsu men in Japan and they have come out victorious for the most part in the bouts. In the last tournament between judo men and Western athletes held in Shanghai shortly before the war, the Japanese took the majority of points.

Tonight's competitions will be a test between Japanese of established talent and Westerners fairly well known locally. The four Japanese entered in the tourney are in Class "B" in Japan, which means that they have gone through years of training and are second only to the topmost in their profession. The boxing and wrestling challengers have sufficient reputation to warrant their trying their skill against the Japanese.

Corbett has boxed here before, and has shown considerable class

TSAO KUN TO HEAD AIR DEPARTMENT

Charges Of Pro-Fengtien Inclinations Made Against Present Director

Changes are expected to be made soon in the administration of the Aeronautical Department in Peking, following the Chihli-Fengtien fight. General Tsao Kuh wishes to hold the office of Director-General of this department concurrently, while the director, Pan Chu-yin, will be replaced by Chow Fu-ling, Military Commissioner of Ta Ming.

Charges have been brought against Pan for assisting the Fengtien cause during the war. Li Ping-ling, chief of the general affairs section of the department, has already been dismissed for accepting an advisorship from Chang Tso-lin. Pan has also incurred the wrath of his subordinate for discharging 54 officials of his department.

Colonel F. V. Holt, the technical advisor lent by the British Government, will return to England this fall. No more financial advances are expected to be made to the department by Vickers, Ltd., after September as by that time the entire loan of £1,810,000 shall have been completely given to China by instalments.

Prospects for the maintenance of the department after September look very dark, in view of the financial stringency of the Peking Government.

Page Enters Rotary Golf Semi-Finals

H. E. Page, by defeating T. E. Doremus one up, has reached the semi-finals of the Shanghai Rotary Club golf tournament. Results in the tourney to date are as follows:

First round.—F. F. Fairman defeated W. P. Strickland two up.

H. B. Lane defeated J. J. Evans five up and three to play.

V. A. Padon defeated E. S. Cunningham three up and two to play.

A. A. Wiley defeated George J. McCarthy four up and three to play.

Two matches remain to be played in the first round, F. P. Bills being scheduled to meet W. S. Fleming and W. J. Hawkings to meet A. N. Lethin.

Both Doremus and Page drew byes for the first round, Page winning in the second round match that qualified him for the finals.

Fairman is to play against Lane in the second round while Padon will meet the winner of the Fleming-Bills match. Wiley is to meet the winner of the Hawkings-Lethin match.

The tourney rules are: match play with handicap allowances of three fourths in singles.

in the ring. He has been in the Far East long enough to have a good knowledge of jiu jitsu and the problems which it presents to the boxer. Nick Boyle, the other boxer who will meet a Japanese is also an old Far Eastern hand of good boxing abilities fit to compete with judo.

Concerning wrestlers, the German, Walter, while not so well known locally, should give a good account of himself, with his size, his evident strength, and his wrestling experience. Schmidt, the Esthonian 170 pounder, is perhaps the best bet of the lot. The man has been performing in Harbin and Vladivostok after a successful tour over all of Russia. He is posted on jiu jitsu, having spent seven months in Japan where he met several jiu jitsu men. He should be the best man in his bout.

The competitions start at 9:15 p.m.

Slain In Chicago's Labor War

Lieut. Terrence Lyons Albert Moeller Thomas Clark

ACTING Police Lieutenant Terrence Lyons and Patrolman Thomas Clark were killed and Patrolman Albert Moeller was wounded by a band of bombers in Chicago. This precipitated a crisis in the labor war brought about by the Landis wage arbitration award, and scores of labor leaders have been arrested, while the police have been ordered to wage relentless war on lawlessness brought about by the labor feud.

Montreal, May 12.—Bermondsey Wells of London, England, won the Canadian welterweight championship title from Frank Barrieau tonight in a ten round bout.

Hankow Forms Baseball League

An active baseball season during this summer has been promised Hankow with the organisation of the Hankow Baseball League which is composed of four teams, namely the U. S. S. Isobel Navy team, the Hankow Race Club Baseball team, the Mitsui Busan Kaisha team and the team of Japanese Bankers in Hankow. The two Japanese units of the League are employes of Japanese banks and the firm of Mitsui Busan Kaisha, Ltd., who have played with Japanese University teams.

The League schedule opened with a game between the Japanese teams last Saturday, which was followed on Sunday by a game between the Hankow Race Club players and a team from the U. S. S. Monacacy, the latter playing in the absence of the U. S. S. Isobel which went to Kiukiang on urgent patrol service. The League schedule calls for games for four teams on all Saturdays and up to June 23, when the League winners are to play a team selected from all of the other teams.

WORLD COTTON CONGRESS HEARS ACREAGE PLEA

Lancashire Delegate Sees Disaster If Production Is Cut

(Reuter Service)

Stockholm, June 15.—The World Cotton Congress today discussed the effect of the short time week on textile production, the British delegates contending that this prejudically affected the employers and operatives and the country and benefited those countries where such restriction was not applied. The Congress agreed that there ought to be an uniform system but deprecated legislative regulation of hours. A committee was detailed to draft a resolution.

The Lancashire delegate, Mr. Holroyd, referring to the precarious cotton production of the world and particularly American, expressed the opinion that every effort should be made to extend cotton-growing in India. He said that the Indian staple was too short for the Lancashire trade but good enough for many countries. An increase in the Indian crop would release a corresponding amount of other growths and he suggested that the Federation should investigate the favorable possibilities of extensive cotton-growing in China. Great dependence was placed on fine Egyptian cotton. Mr. Holroyd drew attention to the alarming increase in American mills' consumption of their own crops.

Walt Whitman's Old Home To Be Shrine

(Reuter's Service)

Camden, N. J., May 24.—Walt Whitman's home here is to be preserved for posterity. A committee appointed by the Camden City Council has decided that a shrine shall be made of the modest frame dwelling where the "good gray poet" passed the later years of his life and where he died on March 26, 1892. It has been suggested that the house be allowed to stand on its original site, and not moved to Forest Hill, where some would have it. The house will be used for storing Whitman relics.

Scientists To Seek Secret Of 'Mystery Lake' In Australia

(Reuter's Service)

Sydney, April 11.—An attempt to solve the secret of Lake Eyre, called the "Mystery Lake," in the interior of Australia, will be made soon by a scientific expedition. The lake is 400 miles from the nearest settlement.

Seven rivers from the hills miles away penetrate Australia's great interior desert and tumble their contents into the lake. In the rainy season these rivers become enormous flooded areas covering miles. Without any apparent outlet, Lake Eyre, an inland sea as the result of the flooded rivers, contracts and becomes a lake again in a surprisingly short time. The water simply vanishes, puzzled scientists say. It has been suggested that a subterranean river may exist.

Mr. G. Halligan of Sydney, one of the party that will investigate the "Mystery Lake," deprecated the suggestion that the mystery may be the result of especially rapid evaporation, and said the evaporation of such a large amount of water would be impossible.

New Commander Is Appointed For U. S. Patrol On Yangtsze

Rear Admiral W. W. Phelps Will Arrive In Shanghai On July 26 To Succeed Rear-Admiral Bullard Who Returns Home

Word reached Shanghai yesterday that Rear-Admiral William Woodward Phelps, U. S. N., now on temporary duty with the Atlantic fleet, has been appointed commandant of the American Yangtsze patrol and will arrive here on July 26. He succeeds Rear-Admiral W. H. G. Bullard, who has been ordered home.

Rear-Admiral Phelps, who will be second in rank to Admiral Joseph Strauss in Far Eastern waters, was in command of the battleship Louisiana during the war, and has held many important positions in the United States Navy. He graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1889, being promoted successively until at the time of the Spanish-American War he was a Captain and served on the U. S. S. Bancroft.

He was Executive Officer on the Mayflower, the President of the United States' yacht for two years during the administration of Theodore Roosevelt, and later on the battleship Delaware. Before becoming a member of the Naval War College at Newport, Rhode Island, he commanded the battleships Iowa, Baltimore, and Reina Mercedes. Rear-Admiral Phelps will be on the Isabel, the flagship of the Yangtsze patrol, now up river.

The following visits of ceremony have been made on Admiral Strauss since the arrival of the U. S. S. Huron: Lieut.-Comdr. J. S. Morrell, R.N., Comdr., H.M.S. Cricket; the American Consul General, Mr. Edwin S. Cunningham; Vice Admiral T. Chiang, C.N., Commander in Chief, Chinese Fleet; Commander H. S. Kao, C.N. Chief of Staff to Commander in Chief, Chinese Fleet; Chev. S. K. Chen, Advisor for Foreign Affairs to the Military Governors of Kiangsu and Chekiang; Secretary to the Commander in Chief, Chinese Fleet; Captain H. E. Hilman, R. N. (Ret), Harbor Master, Shanghai.

Denby Party Is Now En Route Here

Thirty ladies are members of the party arriving on the United States Army transport Henderson, due in Yokohama on July 2 with Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby and other members of the Annapolis Class of 1881, which holds its reunion in Tokio this year.

The Henderson will arrive in Shanghai on July 17 and is to remain in port a week. The transport sailed from Norfolk last month.

About half the party is making the complete trip by way of the Panama Canal; one or two will board the vessel en route to San Diego, California, and the others will join the transport there.

Mr. Edwin Denby, Secretary of the Navy with Mrs. Denby and their two children sailed from Norfolk. Commodore Lloyd Bankson accompanied by his niece, Miss Agnes Means, of Washington, also left from Norfolk, as did Commander Martin A. Anderson of Washington.

Major-General George Barnett formerly commander-in-chief of the Marine Corps, of Fort Royal, Virginia, is accompanied by Mrs. Barnett and her daughter, Miss Agnes Gordon. Captain Samuel Bryan and Mrs. Bryan of Annapolis are also coming. Brigadier-General and Mrs. H. C. Haines of Washington are bringing their two daughters, Miss Helen and Miss Barbara.

BOSTON CONTINGENT

Mr. James E. Byrne, who has been in business in Boston since retiring from the navy, was among those leaving Norfolk on the Henderson. Captain Joseph H. Linnard of Philadelphia and Commander Clarence H. Mathews of New York City also boarded the transport there. Misses Eleanor and Ruth Haines are coming with their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Haines of Boston.

Senator O. E. Weller of Maryland, who is next to Secretary Denby in command of the party, left from Norfolk.

Commander Albert Moritz of Brooklyn is accompanied by Mrs. Moritz, their daughter, Miss Fanny, and their son, Melville. Mrs. Marie R. Moses of Washington, widow of the late Colonel F. J. Moses of the Marine Corps, is in the party. Mr. Harry C. Newcomb of the Havana Steamship Company, Havana, Cuba, and his stepson, Edward Clarkson, will join the Henderson's distinguished party at Panama.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Smies of Cleveland, Ohio, are in the party, as are also Major Zebulon B. Vance and Mrs. Vance of Black Mountain, North Carolina. Miss Cora K. Parsons is coming with her brother, Mr. Arthur C. Parsons of Oak Park, Illinois, a member of the famous Annapolis class. Colonel C. M. Perkins of the Marine Corps, Washington, and Mr. Charles Stewart of Washington are in the party. Lieutenant and Mrs. Robert Stewart of New York City were among the others going on board the Henderson before it sailed from the Atlantic port.

Colonel H. K. White of the Marine Corps, Washington, is accompanied by his wife. Commander W. W. White of Washington also left for the class reunion. He was joined at San Diego by his daughter, Mrs. Louis W. Irwin, of Long Beach, California.

FROM SAN DIEGO

Dr. Frank B. Bunts, Mrs. Bunts, and Dr. Bunts' cousin, Mrs. Margaret Porter, all of Cleveland Ohio, went on the Henderson at San Diego, as did Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Caroll of Butte, Montana. Mr. Frederick Bonfils is accompanying his brother, Mr. Thomas L. Bonfils, who is a member of the naval class, from San Diego. Mrs. Claude Fay Doyen, widow of the late Brigadier General Doyen of Coronado, California, also joined the party at the California port.

Mrs. Hoogewerff is accompanying her husband, Rear-Admiral John A. Hoogewerff. Mr. Daniel Morgan of Hillsboro, Ohio, is bringing Mrs. Morgan and their daughter, Miss Mildred. Mrs. Parsons is coming with Mr. Isaac B. Parsons, a member of the class. Captain William H. Stayton of Baltimore makes up the complete list of those coming to Japan for the celebration.

Another Minister Declines Office In New Cabinet

Following the announcement made in THE CHINA PRESS by Dr. Huang Yen-pei, newly appointed minister of education that he would refuse to accept the office, General Tan Yen-kai also stated yesterday that he has declined the Interior portfolio in the new Cabinet.

The following telegram was despatched to President Li Yuan-hung Thursday night.

"I have received your telegraphic invitation. However, unless the national affairs are solved in strict accordance with law there can be no genuine self-determination among the people. While the actual conditions are so chaotic, how can you unify the country by empty words. As one who had identified himself with the Southern cause, I can do nothing that would appear to violate the principles of this noble cause. As a native of Hunan, I must insist on Hunan's self-autonomy. We all have our own ideals. Please don't force yours on me."

Yangchow Notes

(China Press Correspondence)

Yangchow, June 12. — The serious drought remains unbroken. The farmers of this vicinity declare that unless rain shall come within a very few days, there can be no autumn crops, and famine will ensue. This coming after the damage to crops by floods last summer will bring ruin to a section of the country that is generally prosperous.

The projected road from this city to Kwachow, which was to have been built this summer, has been surveyed, and it is said that the land has been partially paid for; but, the work has not been carried out. At the first attempt to locate the road, a small riot occurred, and the promoters of the road project were beaten with some severity. The magistrate of this city lost his position in consequence, and his successor has arrived and taken over the office.

One cannot fail to notice the enormous increase that has taken place in the use of straw hats of foreign fashion. It is probable that some tens of thousands have been sold here this summer.

Asia Banking Corporation

June 16, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each down ⅛d. in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 71⅞ cents, and the London-New York cross rate is unchanged at 447⅜.

The official rates here today were the same as yesterday, and the market while opening steady, became easy during the course of the morning.

At the opening there were sellers of Sterling at 3-7 for all deliveries up to August, and of Gold Dollars at 80¼ for June-July and 80½ for August.

Banks however, were good buyers at these rates, with the result that the market became easy, and at the Tiffin interval there were no sellers of Sterling at better than 3-6⅞ any delivery up to August.

The best sellers of Gold Dollars were offering 79¾.

During the greater part of the afternoon, business in Sterling was done at 3s. 6⅞d. and in Gold Dollars as low as 79½ for August. However, just before the close, the market steadied up somewhat, and closed with sellers of Sterling at 3s. 6⅞d. for any delivery to August, and of Gold Dollars at 79¾.

Banks today were rather more anxious to buy for this month than for forward delivery, and the cash premium that has been in force for some little time, has now practically disappeared.

India sold silver in London yesterday, and China bought.

The undertone of the market is reported as steady. New York report their market as easy, with sellers for spot.

Noel Murray's Weekly Report

In their weekly report on the Shanghai Piece-Goods Trade, Messrs. Noel, Murray and Company write as follows:

Cotton.—There has been a strong advance in prices this week and in Liverpool Spot Good Mids are quoted at 12.62d. July 12.33d. and October 12.15d. Bombay rates are much firmer at Rs. 380 for F. G. Bengals, Rs. 449 for Fine Oomras and Rs. 515 F. G. Broach. In New York yesterday, Spot Cotton was up to 22.30 cents, which is a rise of 60 points for the week; July was 21.78, October 21.62, December 21.40, January 21.27 and March 21.13 cents.

Home Market.—Very little news has come over the wires this week, but it is said the Manchester market is steady and strong and that a shortage of cotton is looked forward to in the coming season. China has done a moderate amount of buying.

Local Market.—People continue to comfort themselves by talking of the better feeling and strong undertone of the market, but beyond admitting there has been quite a good clearance of goods this week, we do not think importers have had very much to do with either new or spot business. What trade has been done, has been transacted by the dealers, who appear to be unloading their purchases and this will mean another trip to market for fresh supplies in the near future. Auction sales have been largish and they were well attended and supported right through.

Financial.—Stocks of Silver have increased to Tls. 23,823,000 and $29,500,000 of which Tls. 4,120,000 and $13,610,000 are in Native Banks.

Yarn.—There has been no activity this week, 300 bales of Locals and 5,500 bales for bundling purposes have been sold and, for the first time for many, many months, we are able to report prices of sales of 300 bales Japanese Yarn to this market.

Auctions.—56,759 pieces were sold by this medium this week, with more or less gratifying results. The majority of the Greys advanced one to two mace and the White Shirtings were barely steady, White Irishes, one chop up and one down. Bleached T-Cloths were down a mace and White Sheetings and Jeans a bit weaker. Turkey Reds sold a little irregularly but Velvets improved, Bleach Lawns also picked up well. Notwithstanding increased quantities, Black Italians mostly did better one to two mace. After many months of absence Colored assorted figured Italians reappeared in the Kung Ping sale, but the results were disappointing. With a few exceptions Venetians improved a few fractions of a candareen. Clearances of Auction Cargo have been good this week.

Cotton Market

In their weekly report on the cotton market, Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows:

China Cotton:—During the past week there has been no change in the fundamental conditions of the market. Fluctuations were within narrow limits and these were influenced from day to day by the weather map with a steady tendency at the close of the week. On the other hand Mid-Americans reached a new high level for the season.

Regarding the present prospect of the crop, the outlook is almost "brilliant." Whatever the outturn may be, it will be hinged on future "weather" developments.

Extracts of Correspondence

Chekiang Province, June 11:—The weather has been ideal the last couple of days and farm work is well advanced.

Shanghai and Districts, June 15:—Weather fine. Farmers are making fair progress with chopping; the last showers were very beneficial to the crop.

Yangtsze Valley, June 11:—Crops progressing very favorably. We need a little rain within three or four days.

Shensi Province:—No news.

Chihli and Shantung Provinces:—Weather hot. Crop prospects are good.

Yarn:—We have no change to report in the position of the local yarn market, prices ruling the same as last week. At the close, the undertone of the market was weak. Business for export has been booked, some 7,000 to 8,000 bales in all of 20's, 16's, 14's and 12's at ruling prices. From present indications, we look for steady markets in the future.

SPUNT AND COMPANY

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their report on the cotton market:

China Cotton:—There has been practically no change in our market and prices continued steady notwithstanding the fact of hardly any legitimate business having transpired throughout the past week. However, the steadiness in our market is being buoyed up by the strength in both Mid-Americans and Indians.

From reports from the various districts of the central cotton delta we gather that the intermittent showers now being experienced are favorably affecting the planted area.

From reports received from the North, all along the railway zone, Peking-Mukden line, where the long staple Penno cotton grows, planting has been seriously restricted due to the manoeuvering of Fengtien and Chihli troops and therefore very little is expected of this cotton in the new season crop; however, reports of the Siho and Yuho crops are all favorable.

Taking into consideration the present statistical position of the cotton world and having in view the unmistakable signs for an ever growing demand in the near future for the cotton fibre, we fail to discern at this time any grounds for fostering any bearish sentiment, but deem it advisable to take advantage of any reaction that may take place in order to bring about a favorable resulting average in the cost of the raw material. Tone of the market, Steady.

Two Big Problems At The Hague Conference

Note: In view of the opening of The Hague Conference, the following, from the pen of Edwin L. James, written at the close of the Genoa conference on May 20, and dealing with the problems for which a solution will be sought at The Hague, should be of immediate interest:

BY EDWIN L. JAMES

THIS old city is busy today getting back it normalcy following the end of the tumultuous Genoa conference yesterday.

Looking back at the six weeks' meeting one sees three things that came of it: First, the Hague conference to continue the Russian negotiations, second, the eight months' truce which Mr. Lloyd George hopes to turn into a long term compact of non-aggression, and the Rapallo treaty between the Germans and Russians. There was also the negative result that the Entente stood the test of heavy strain. Another by-product is increasing irritation at the refusal of the United States to shoulder some of Europe's troubles.

No one can tell yet what The Hague meeting will amount to. Certainly it faces two hurdles. One is to effect an agreement of the European powers on Russian policy which is to be undertaken at The Hague before the Russians are called, and the second is to get the Russians down to a basis on which a worthwhile arrangement can be made with them.

It is not to be forgotten that at Genoa there was never any agreement among the powers on Russian policy. The Russians' refusal to accept the softer terms of the English wiped out Mr. Lloyd George's fight with the French, who stood for firmer terms with respect to private property. Mr. Lloyd George was ready to accept the formula of possessive use of property, while the French school stood for ownership, although at times making some concessions. The way the conference ended left the French, followed by Belgium, Poland and the Little Entente, standing on the platform that what the Soviets had taken from foreigners they must return, while the English are willing to accept possession with technical ownership remaining vested in the Soviet Government.

It is difficult to see from outstanding evidences that the French will be less firm at The Hague than at Genoa. Indications point the other way. In other words, it is very doubtful if at The Hague any better terms will be offered to the Russians than those proffered at Genoa, which were, briefly, recognition of the pre-war debts and war debts of Russia and an agreement for return or recompense for foreign-owned property nationalised by the Soviets, values to be fixed by mixed tribunals. The Russians at one stage two-thirds accepted these terms, but on condition that they get a billion-dollar loan. If the English can get the powers at The Hague lined up on what they offered on May 2 they will have done about all that seems probable.

After the powers' experts have agreed, if they can, and after the governments shall have approved this agreement, if they do, the Russians are to be called in. What they will do depends on what decisions Moscow takes in the next month. If an accord is to be found the Russians must give up their demand for a billion-dollar loan this time, recognise pre-war debts and war debts and agree at least to compensation for property they took from foreigners. With less than that they cannot get a bargain.

Krassin and Tchitcherin, two of the important members of the Russian delegation at Genoa, will probably be willing to advise that course. Litvinoff and Rakovsky will advise against it. The latest instructions the delegation got from Moscow favored the stand of Litvinoff and Rakovsky. It now depends on Moscow.

At Genoa the Russians have done a great deal of talking along this line: "We are willing to back down a bit if we get a loan. Without a loan there is not enough inducement. Russia is getting along in a better way all the time and we are willing to try it on our lines for two more years in the belief that we can show the world we really can bring Russia back without foreign help. It will take longer, but we believe we can do it."

The Soviet's belief in their ability is greater than any one else's, but they certainly have an air of believing in themselves.

The Russians have learned one thing at Genoa, and that is they cannot get anywhere seeking loans and at the same time preaching repudiation of debts. That is, Tchitcherin has learned that. Whether he can persuade Lenin to profit by that lesson remains to be seen. The Russians' position of being willing to sacrifice their principle for a loan, and then standing fast on their sacred principles when a loan was not forthcoming, was wretched policy. Whether they will succeed at The Hague depends on whether they can find a better policy, which will be at the same time more effective practically and more convincing diplomatically.

A great deal of emphasis has been laid on the Russians resuming their place in the diplomatic world by participating in the Genoa Conference. It is my impression that this has been overemphasised. The Russians were treated as equals at Genoa only theoretically. Actually they were never in on the discussions on the same footing as the other powers, nor will they be at The Hague. The French attended to that. They are still a people apart, in a class by themselves, and are not yet back in the international family.

As to Premier Lloyd George's truce plan, it does not look like a great accomplishment when the nations promise not to attack the Russians for eight months. Skeptics might say it fixes the date for an attack on Russia and for Russia's attack on her neighbors. The hopeful say it is the beginning of a new era. Both views are probably wrong. The compact does not mean much in itself, but what Mr. Lloyd George intends to do at the end of the eight months if still in power is to ask: "Now, who is it who wishes to bust this compact of peace? Let him stand up and show his colors." Perhaps there will be no wild rush, and then he counts on seizing the opportunity to extend it. His chances depend on the outcome at The Hague in large measure.

The same consideration applies to the Rapallo treaty. Failure at The Hague would immediately multiply by ten the importance of the German treaty with the Russians, for then Moscow and Berlin would stand side by side as against the rest of Europe and if trouble between France and Germany over reparations continues this would be all the more marked. But if The Hague succeeds and every one has an amicable treaty with Russia, it is self-evident that Moscow will lean less on Berlin and there will be less danger of the realisation of Mr. Lloyd George's nightmare of "hungry Russia equipped by angry Germany." Thus it is apparent that The Hague may have a great effect on the next quarter of a century of Europe's politics.

However, whatever happens at The Hague, the Rapallo Treaty has importance because it grants to Russia much better conditions than she can hope to get from any collective treaty. It did not cost Germany much to cancel debts with Russia—neither owed the other much—and their counter reparation claims about offset each other. It would cost France or Belgium or England a great deal to cancel debts with Russia. And therefore the Rapallo Treaty unquestionably, in its practical as well as possible political effect, draws the Russians and Germans into partnership. The action of the powers in excluding the Germans from The Hague accentuates that companionship. One might say it were a case of misery loving company.

Despite all their hard words, England, France and Italy leave Genoa with words of love. Russian intransigeance solved their crisis. Whether it will be the same at The Hague, the future can tell; but for the present the blood-sealed Entente still lives, and the harder the Russians are to deal with and the closer they get to the Germans, the more certain they will make the continuance of the Entente. If the Russians and Germans are to form a bloc composed of two-thirds population of Europe, the only other bloc to balance it is the Entente.

The French feel that America's stand has vastly increased their strength, and they talk now of having regained what they lost before American public opinion at the Washington Conference. Premier Poincare undoubtedly will do his best to make the most of this association of interests, whether real or only visionary, and the French delegation will appear at The Hague as speaking in the name of the United States unless Washington does something to interfere. And, incidentally, not only France but England holds the hope that America may approve the powers' plan of action if agreed on at The Hague and join the debate with Russian experts. Although Secretary Hughes now holds out little hope, this is because he based his stand on the Russian position and the idea is strong among European diplomats, who with regard to the United States seem to place more reliance on their hopes than in indications from across the Atlantic, that he will change his attitude.

MARY HAD A LITTLE MAN

Mary had a little man
Continually in tow,
For everywhere that Mary went
That man was sure to go.

* * *

He followed her to park or play,
In country or in town,
He'd put her on a winner,
Or he'd help her choose a gown!

And though her "modiste" kept him out,
Yet still he'd linger near,
And suck his cane and mooch about
Till Mary did appear.

And, when she did, he'd trot with her
To this place and to that,
And, should she smile, he'd softly purr,
Like any pussy-cat.

"What makes that man love Mary so?"
Old Puzzlehead would cry;
"Why, Mary snubs the chap, you know!"
The Cynic would reply.

But Mary, quite against her will,
Found out, one afternoon,
The little man was with her still,
Upon her honeymoon!

WHY, OF COURSE

Great lawyers usually have their wits about them when conducting a case in court; but now and again they are caught napping.

For example, I once heard Sir Ernest Wild, the new Recorder of London, tell an amusing story concerning a certain eminent K. C., who was cross-examining a witness.

The man was an elderly clerk, small of stature, and obviously nervous and ill at ease; just the sort of witness that can, as a rule, be twisted round the finger of a really clever cross-examiner.

"Have you ever been married?" began counsel.

"Yes," stammered the little clerk, "once."

"Whom did you marry?"

"A—a woman, sir."

"Of course, of course," snapped the K. C. "Did you ever hear of anyone marrying a man?"

"Yes, sir, once."

"Well, who?"

"P-please, sir, my sister!"

THE PARTING KISS

"Now, Stevens, have I got everything? Did you put in plenty of jerseys? I am sure to want them up in Scotland."

Avice was going on a visit to the MacSheens. Rex could not get away just then. He would follow later.

"Your trunks are quite ready, madam, and the car is at the door," answered Stevens.

Rex had promised to come to the station. Avice loved being seen off, and Rex always found her more affectionate when she was saying good-bye than at any other time.

"Train's very full," said the porter. "Got your ticket? Number six platform."

She was safely installed at last. How late Rex was! Avice gathered her furs round her.

The platform was very crowded. She stepped out of the carriage. Only two more minutes, and not a sign of him.

"Take your seats," cried the ticket collector.

Avice hung out of the window. Ah! there was Rex dashing along, dodging the people right and left, trying to get to his wife.

"Your luggage is all in," said the porter, coming up to the carriage.

Avice fumbled with her bag, at the same time trying to catch a glimpse of Rex.

He had seen her. It was all right.

The whistle blew. The train began to move.

"Good-bye, darling," she called, giving him a hurried kiss. "Don't forget to write, and take care of the children."

There was a shriek of laughter from the crowd, and she heard Rex say: "Avice! how could you?"

Then she sank back into her corner seat and hid her face in the newspaper.

She had kissed the porter and given her husband a shilling!

No New Way Out Of Difficulties—Work And Try To Pay Debts—Comparison With Brussels

BY EDWARD A. BRADFORD

Since the war ended there have been two economic conferences—the first at Brussels, the second at Genoa. Both have been regarded as failures. They have been so only if they have failed to convince the world that the only way out of its troubles is to substitute the will to work for the will to war, the making of effort to pay debts for the effort to avoid them, and abandonment of the attempt to avoid the giving of equivalences by some novelty of finance. The agreement of both conferences on these trite moralities is more important than the differences between them, if, indeed, there were even minor differences in principle. It is certain that there were differences in details, for both conferences dealt in great detail with many contentious subjects. The debates were as interminable as our tariff debates, and the conclusions covered many pages, but the high points of the agreements may be covered in comparatively few words.

The impression that the Genoa economic conference was a failure arises chiefly from the fact that Russia and Germany succeeded in drawing attention away from economics by making a political treaty which was outside the conference's scope. The merits of that treaty are as alien to this article as to the agenda of the conference. That is true, too, but in less degree, of the fact that the subjects nominally excluded from the program of the conference, reparations, disarmament and other topics covered by the Versailles Treaty, nevertheless obscured the financial and economic topics which the conference was summoned to settle. The agreement of the two conferences on such matters as exchange, currency, the gold standard, trade between nations and related topics of economics and finance is remarkable, and well worth better setting out than it has received.

THE FIRST CONFERENCE

The Brussels conference of October, 1920, formulated its conclusions on public finance under ten heads. It is not practicable to mention them specifically, nor is it necessary for the point sought to be made. The preamble set out that three out of four of the thirty-nine nations represented, and eleven out of twelve of the European countries, anticipated budget deficits. Their expectations have been fulfilled, and the predicted consequences follow. The budget deficits have caused inflation, with the result of depreciating currency values, unsetting price levels, and parity of exchanges. The recommodations were the balancing of budgets, the reduction of Goverment expenses, the increase of taxation, the cessation of borrowing and other humdrum remedies.

On the heads of currency and exchange the Brussels conference made sixteen points. Several of them are mentioned above. Others were that the banks should be relieved of political pressure, and conducted on banking principles, that credits should be granted only for economic needs until it could be controlled by the rates of discount; that commerce between nations should be as free as practicable; that the gold standard should be re-established; that it was useless to attempt to fix the ratio of fiduciary currencies to gold values, or to stabilise the values of gold.

Regarding international credits, the Brussels conference imposed upon the points above that credits between Governments have become undesirable; that credits between countries should be made from savings and not from fiduciary circulation; that there is hope of good from international guarantees of credit, and credit insurance; and that credits granted for reasons of easing war burdens should be for longer than customary commercial periods.

With these leading conclusions at Brussels in mind it is desirable to compare the nineteen corresponding conclusions at Genoa. The first and most important are that banks should be freed from political pressure, and be established where they are lacking; that all European currencies should be restored to a gold basis, each country doing this for itself; that budgets should be balanced, with the aid of external loans where necessary; that an international convention "should centralise and co-ordinate the demand for gold so as to avoid wide fluctuations in the purchasing power of gold," and that a conference of the world's central banks should be held to effectuate these recommendations, with the participation of the United States. The financial Commission deliberated three weeks while the main conference was discussing capitalism, communism, the Russo-German treaty and other subjects not germane to the conference's program, and added to its conclusion above its opinions that "no scheme for stabilising the purchasing power of the monetary unit can be fully affective without a co-ordination of policy between Europe and the United States," and that "all artificial control of operation of exchange rates is futile and mischievous and should be abolished at the earliest possible moment."

OLD-FASHIONED ECONOMICS

It is submitted that these conclusions of the two conferences cannot be compared without assent to their agreement in substance and principle. These conclusions of the world's wisest lend no countenance to the many novelties proposed with the best intentions by some authorities in all countries. In the words of Sir Robert Horne speaking for England, the recommendations are "wholly in line with old-fashioned economics." On May 3 the conference in plenary session adopted the above recommendations of its committees, and Lloyd George then said that the action represented a very material contribution toward the reconstruction of Europe.

Certainly the points above are more important than the formation of a consortium of European nations (with a reservation of a place for the United States) to subscribe £20,000,000 for the promotion of business among the economically crippled countries of Europe, especially Russia. The amount is a mere drop in the bucket and the action means nothing in principle. The British plan for promotion of European trade by disregarding exchange values in fixing customs duties was rejected in subcommittee, without even coming before the conference. That, too, is a detail, better arranged by the adjustment of exchange on exchange principles than by indirection by adjustment of customs. Probably our trade would be more benefited by whatever promotes betterment of conditions in Europe than prejudiced by the establishment of a series or system of most favored nations in Europe from which we might be excluded. As the countries concerned could not agree upon favoritism to themselves, there is no need for taking any position on the point further than to regret that Europe's trade must remain disorganised until it can negotiate many individual treaties, instead of mutually conceding to each other the lowest customs imposed on similar imports coming from any other foreign country. Consideration of fundamental principles of universal application is obscured by such relatively trivial matters, irrespective of their success or failure.

America was not formally represented at either conference and took no part in their deliberations or conclusions; but the conclusions could not be framed more to our liking. They are both the alpha and omega of financial art and science. It is better that they were framed by others since they represent the conditions on which alone Europe can hope for our co-operation, which the assembled nations have declared indispensable. This attitude is not one of domination, either political, financial or commercial. Europe wants American credits. We want Europe's trade and are in position to grant credits on principles which Europe has affirmed without our participation. The banker who represents the private banking opinion of the United States inherits the conviction that character is more than collateral in making loans on business principles. That idea holds equally good in politics. Secretary Hughes struck that note in his reply to the women who asked him on May Day, in the name of the Women's International League for Peace, to recognise the Soviet Government. He replied that there were no legal obstacles to trade with Russia. Americans wish the Russian people well, he said, and have no disposition to interfere in their domestic affairs. But the Russian Government is responsible for the character it gives itself, and credit cannot be given to the Government or to Russians until they lay a basis for credit by proof of good character which must precede credit. That basis for credit cannot be supplied from outside Russia. It must be supplied from inside Russia. That is not an arbitrary assertion or artificial conception. It is a simple statement of fact. The American position cannot be stated better than in the words of Hughes and Morgan. If good-will would suffice, our European friends could rely upon our rushing to their relief.

UNBALANCED BUDGETS

Many have belittled the first two conferences which included all Europe, because they asserted academic propositions so solemnly. It was worth while to affirm them, because the conferences are more united upon them than the countries themselves, and the countries alone can give effect to them. England alone has balanced its budget, and has faced itself resolutely toward the correction of the exchanges. But England keeps the company of the rest of Europe in acting as though two and two made more than four, as though any paper money is worth more than it will buy, as though prices could be low when consumption exceeds production, as though necessities could be cheap while waste was unlimited, as though others could help those who will not help themselves. All know the truth about these things, but all act contrary to knowledge, even contrary to principle. Therefore great good, and only good, can result from the conferences reaffirming the neglected principles even more positively than American spokesmen. The acceptance by Americans of the principles of the conferences should go far to help the Governments of Europe with their less informed citizenry. The several proletariats are less convinced than the Finance Ministers of the profound truths phrased by Mr. Micawber: "Twenty shillings a year income, expenses twenty shillings and six pence, result disaster; income twenty shillings, expenses nineteen shillings and sixpence, result happiness." There could hardly be a better resume of the conferences' findings. All that remains is to act upon them.

That probability is remote. The nations of the Continent with

An Unsolved Astronomical Mystery

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS,
Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

The big and little "worlds" that run around the sun together with the earth, the god of day being as much theirs as he is ours offer many puzzles to the astronomer, some of which remain as yet unsolved. Jupiter, with his great, round face, daubed with broad orange and gray streaks and splotches of red and white, as if the representative of the father of the Olympian gods had put on war paint; Saturn, with his gigantic rings, the most sensational sight in the heavens; Venus, with her impenetrable veil, and Mars, with his almost equally impenetrable self-disclosures—all these, mysterious as they in many ways appear, perhaps must yield first place among astronomical conundrums to those little mites of planets called asteroids, nearly a thousand of which have been discovered and whose total number may be many thousand, circling around the sun, as if they were dispersed fragments of a vast ring, between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter.

If you could pull up Pike's Peak by the roots and fling it out into space to become a new satellite of the sun it would, as far as size goes, make a respectable asteroid of the smaller class, for they vary from a half dozen having diameters exceeding a hundred miles to thousands whose diameters are only five miles and less.

The first puzzling question that they present is: How did they originate? Were they created as separate bodies, or as a single body which afterward was broken up, or blown to pieces? Long ago the bold idea that they were the fragments of an exploded planet was confidently put forth, and it has never been absolutely abandoned, though it has sunk into comparative desuetude.

It would not have required a globe larger than Mars to furnish the material for all of them combined. But how account for the explosion, or the breaking up? One suggestion has been that a great sun-like body, living or dead, may once have passed through the solar system going close enough to one of its planets to cause a disruption through the tremendous strain of tidal forces.

The principle underlying this curious theory is one of the most remarkable products of modern scientific thought. In a word it is this: If two very large and massive globes approach inside of a certain critical limit of distance between their centers, their differential attraction upon one another's surface and center of gravity may produce a tidal strain sufficient to burst one or both asunder.

Yet either may have had sufficient tangenital velocity before the catastrophe to insure their separation after it. They tear each other's hair as they pass by, and then go their way, but the way of neither will be exactly the same as it was before. They carom without actually touching.

According to the Planetesimal theory our earth and all of its fellow planets are but ultimate aggregations of the scattered substance cast forth from the ruptured globe of the sun ages ago when another gigantic body went sweeping by within rending distance.

But, if the asteroids are the product of a similar disastrous quasiencounter happening to a planet that formerly revolved around the sun just beyond Mars, the mischief maker must have been much smaller and less massive than the one concerned in the catastrophe from whose consequences the planetary system arose, and it is difficult to understand how a single planet, situated in the midst of the system, could have been thus selected for a sole victim.

A strange peculiarity exhibited by several of the asteroids which are large enough, or which approach at times near enough to the earth to be telescopically and photographically studied, has an evident bearing on the question of their origin.

This peculiarity is a more or less irregular variation in brightness, which is occasionally so great that the asteroid gains, or loses, two or three hundred percent in brightness in the course of a few hours. The asteroid named Eros, discovered in 1898, which at one point in its orbit comes nearer to the earth than any other heavenly body except the moon, and which is thought to be not more than twenty miles in diameter, has been notable for such changes, so much so that it has been imagined that this body may have a very irregular form as if it were truly a fragment such as an explosion could produce.

But the mystery is deepened by the latest observations of this asteroid at the Maria Mitchell Observatory, Nantucket, where its light last year appeared singularly steady. On the other hand another asteroid, named Palma, showed evidence of considerable variation within two or three hours.

It is significant that Bode's so-called law of planetary distances calls for a planet in the gap between Mars and Jupiter where the asteroids are found.

Lessons From Genoa

one accord fail to balance their budgets, continue to inflate their currencies, maintain armies beyond their financial capacity, erect custom barriers against each other, and hold the United States responsible for the unsettlement of the exchanges, the depreciation of their currencies and what they call the premium on gold. There can be no premium on gold. We recognised that during our Civil War, when we quoted greenbacks at a discount and exchange was quoted at a premium. That was our bid for gold, and we cheapened goods until it brought gold. Europe now complains that we fix the price of gold above theirs. We fix nothing about gold except the weight and fineness of the dollar. The price of gold is made as much by their sales of goods as by our bids for goods. Every bargain of goods for gold is a fixing of the price of both the goods and the gold; either in terms of the other. The price of gold is fixed in the markets, not at the mints. A yardstick measures cloth; cloth does not measure the yardstick. A standard is not quoted in terms of itself. Gold is not exchanged for gold. Any man who has gold commands goods, but not at his price for goods necessarily. Any man who has goods commands gold, but not necessarily at his price for gold. Prices express the relative values of both goods and gold in comparison with each other, but not of either separately. It may be hoped that the agreement of the conferences will carry these simplicities into the convictions of the proletariats, who must produce the goods which alone can command our gold, which Europe must have to correct the exchanges against it—unless the proletariats support Governments of a character to command credit so abundantly that the need of gold is postponed to a more convenient season. That cannot be done in contradiction to the agreements of the conferences.

"WHAT OF IT?"

Otherwise, in commercial phrase, Europe is as "broke" as Russia. That is an undesirable contingency, and it well may be asked, "What of it?" The repudiation of currencies and even of national debts is not to be minimised. It would be a calamity greater than ever before, in proportion that the world has shrunk by ease of travel and transport, leading to intimacy of commercial relations above all previous experience. Yet repudiation of greatly reduced currencies is so far the rule that only two nations have restored gold values without repudiation in some degree. Gladstone backed the wrong belligerent and was among the losers by the repudiation of both external and internal debt which is a reproach to several of our Southern States to this day. Repudiation is almost a custom on the southern portion of this continent, but the peoples live whether they are in or out of bankruptcy. They trade almost without interruption, and none better than we know how to make fortunes there while the exchanges may be unquotable. The record is as indisputable as the principles which the conferences affirmed, and which will work their results unless the proletariats can be persuaded to pay more attention to them than when they were last demonstrated on a comparable scale after the Napoleonic world wars.

Now, as then, but on a scale of billions now against millions then, peoples are surviving where Governments are pershing. Peoples always find ways to trade despite hindrances from confusion of currencies and exchanges and deficiences of budgets. All of them fail to hinder demand and supply from meeting. Goods and gold get together despite all obstacles, the greatest being those created by Governments. The greatest service Governments could render would be in governing by restraint of misconduct. Governments conspicuously fail in that simple task, and yet are looked to for relief in matters beyond Government control. Governments are a vain reliance.

More confidence should be felt in the tendency of economic errors to remedy themselves, as nature cures disease. Just as doctors can do no greater service to the sick than to assist nature, so the politicians can do no better than to allow the price levels between nations, the rate of exchanges of their currencies and the depreciation of all currencies not exchangeable for gold to move together in a harmony of relations whose interactions are the best gyroscope to stabilise their movements. Outside of Russia there are Lenins who would abolish money, find substitutes for gold and make prosperity and wealth universal by supplanting capitalism by communism. But Russians are starving, the Russian Treasury needs gold above all other things, and more than any other Treasury. Even the Bolshevist soldiers will not accept any paper money, least of all Russian rubles.

The peasants stopped producing when they were not allowed to own what they produced. The Russian factories stopped producing when the Communist theories were put in practice. The strongest testimony to that is given by our own Communists. Foster, one of our "borers from within," went to Russia to observe for himself. On his return he said: "Before the Russian revolution workmen all over the world thought they could manage industry. The cold, hard fact, as shown by the Russian revolution, is that workmen cannot manage industry. They don't know the first thing about good business, and they have no understanding about the laws or good society."

That is true of other proletariats than the Russian. It is true of many workers here, for Foster's testimony that "workmen do not know much about anything" includes the workers of all countries. In all candor, then, it may be asked why those who know a little should seek to impose their experiments against the advices of those who know all that history teaches? The world's greatest dangers lie at the extremes of government—the Governors who pander to the proletariats, and the proletariats who refuse the remedies of financial doctors in most successful practice. It is not to be blinked that the world is in a bad way. But the world's constitution is amazing although. In fact, the world has survived all the diseases of infancy, and is now in robust manhood. It is beyond belief that the world will not once more survive the remedies of quacks, the poisons given by mistakes of the ignorant, and the toxins bred naturally within the organism. Public repudiations and bankruptcies are serious, but they are not fatal, or even incurable. When the world's people find that they can steal only what exists, and only once, and that then they cannot consume, they will fall to producing. That will be the beginning of convalescence, just as the decline of production was the beginning of the disease, and the cause of the stoppage of consumption.

SUPER-DURABLE FLAT PAINT
FLAT WALL FINISH
A perfect Paint of smooth surface for Interior Wall Coating

The surface obtainable with this paint is smooth and flat, i.e., it is not a grainy, dead, lifeless finish, but of a velvety texture. It dries in a reasonably quick time, so that work can be carried out effectively, yet has the property of remaining open long enough to enable the worker to cover a large surface of wall without making laps or edges.
Excellent results with Super Durable Flat Finish are easily obtained, irrespective of the skill of the user, and an elaborate preparation of the surface is usually quite unnecessary.
Super Durable Flat Finish has been tried on non-absorbent surfaces of all kinds and where distemper and oil paint have proved prone to shell or flake off, it has always adhered. It gives a lasting finish of surprising beauty.

Bishop Advocates Merchant Marine

(China Press Service)

Springfield, Ill., June 15.—Bishop F. B. Fisher of the American Episcopal Mission at Calcutta, India, speaking here today advocated a powerful American Merchant Marine on the Pacific with Manila as the base for Far Eastern operations.

Bishop Fisher declared that the American merchant fleet should rival the Hongkong-Liverpool traffic fleet in size and that then the United States would be sure to get its share of trade in the Pacific.

Talk of a war between Japan and the United States was preposterous, Bishop Fisher asserted. He advocated, however, permitting Japan to expand into Siberia as being their only field left for disposing of their excess population. And America, he said, should abandon her present policy of isolation as "impracticable in this dependent age."

Bank Of England Cuts Discount Rate

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 15.—The Bank of England discount rate is now 3½ percent.

The reduction in the Bank Rate was largely unexpected. It is now the lowest since January 1914, when it stood at 3 percent. The reduction is generally welcomed as assisting in the trade revival and releasing money for foreign and Colonial ventures.

The Bank of England was undoubtedly influenced by the recent reduction in the American money rates.

Another factor is believed to be the Government's desire to facilitate the funding of the country's debts in order to avoid undermining confidence in gilt-edged securities in view of the large loan operations which are pending and also the big Indian Loan at present being put on the market.

According to the Board of Trade Journal the value of Great Britain's trade during May and April was as follows:

	May	April
Imports	£88,000,000	£80,000,000
Exports	£58,000,000	£55,000,000
Re-Exports	£ 9,000,000 (nearly)	£ 9,000,000

U. S. Government Bill Near 4 Billion

(China Press Service)

Washington, June 15.—It is estimated that the expenditures of the United States government for this year will total $3,909,000,000 as compared with $6,500,000,000 for 1920 and $4,750,000,000 for 1921. This comes as a direct result of the economising policy of the Harding administration, and stands out as its premier accomplishment.

Adelaide Throngs Honor Ross Smith

(Reuter's Service)

Adelaide, June 15.—The streets were thronged with dense crowds at an early hour today on the occasion of Sir Ross Smith's funeral. Flags were flown at half-mast, business houses were closed and the Court was adjourned till mid-day as a token of respect.

After a brief service at the Cathedral, the cortege, preceded by a firing party, proceded to the cemetery. The coffin, on which were Sir Ross Smith's decorations and personal equipment and numerous wreaths, was borne on a Royal Air Force trailer excorted by officers of the members of the Air Force. Official and private carriages formed a procession two miles in length.

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, June, 12.—More goods were brought to Habarovsk by the Sungari and Amur rivers during the first two weeks following the opening of navigation than during the whole navigation season in 1921.

Industrialists Demand Part In Colonial Program

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 14.—A deputation of the Federation of British Industries and the London Chamber of Commerce today submitted to Mr. E. L. Wood, Under-Secretary of State for the Colonies, proposals for the establishment of unofficial committees to the Colonies to advise the Governors on matters of finance and also a similar body in London to keep in touch with the Colonial Office.

The deputation urged the desirability of postponing certain general schemes of development undertaken under the influence of the boom period and readjusting the finances of developments which are continued in order to ensure that a larger portion should be met from loan funds and less from revenue.

Mr. Wood in reply questioned whether high taxation was the result of extravagant expenditure and emphasised the retrenchments by the Colonial Governments in the past two years. He expressed the opinion that it would be a short-sighted policy to defer many development schemes largely undertaken to benefit British industry and by which traders would profit when trade revived.

He pointed out that nothing would prevent any Governor on his own initiative from establishing an advisory committee and mentioned that one had already been appointed at Kenya. In conclusion, Mr. Wood referred sympathetically to the idea of a London advisory committee.

Weeks Pessimistic On Primary Laws

(China Press Service)

Cleveland, June 15.—Secretary of War Weeks in an address here today said that he was tempted to entitle the speech "The Decline of the American Government." He said that the drift in recent years is gradually wrecking the nation's government structure by undermining the Constitution.

He said that the country has signally failed to improve the constitution by amending it. He declared that the direct primary was lowering the standard of Congress and that the bloc system was killing party and representative government.

U. S. Rail Workers Face Wage Cut

(China Press Service)

Chicago, June 15.—The Chicago Tribune says that coming wage reductions will affect some 350,000 railroad workers. These reductions will not embrace two recent reductions and will be announced by the Railroad Labor Board tomorrow.

It declared that the wage cuts will affect railroad clerks, signal men, stationary firemen, oilers, marine department employes and will trim about $150 annually from all their salaries.

Train Attacked In Miners' Strike

(Reuter's Service)

Salt Lake City, June 15.—A train, carrying new miners to the mines in Carbon County, Utah, was ambushed today. A mine guard was killed and two passengers were wounded. The Governor has proclaimed martial law in the coal district. It is believed that the assailants were sympathisers with the strikers.

TEACHERS' BILL

(Reuter's Service)

London, June 15.—In the House of Commons today in answer to questions, it was stated that notwithstanding the Government's defeat on May 16, Mr. Lloyd George had decided to proceed with the Teachers' Superannuation Bill in view of the report of the Select Committee that there was not an implied Government obligation to continue the contributory system of pensions.
